

WHAT IS VOLKSSPORTING?

Volkssporting (people's sport) has its origins in Germany and has become popular worldwide. This self-paced physical activity, predominately walking, is non-competitive and for all to enjoy.

Routes are developed by local clubs, and many participants track their accomplishments through event stamps kept in record books. This low-cost incentive program rewards personal accomplishment.

Trails are selected for scenic interest, historic points, and natural beauty. Volkssporting events are great family activities, and most routes are suitable for strollers. In many cases even the family dog can go along.

Volkssporting is a great way to learn about an area, get some enjoyable exercise, meet new people...and have fun!

EVENTS

Scheduled events are usually held on weekends. Colored ribbons and arrows mark the way, and an ample walk window allows lots of time to start and finish the route.

Year-round events are available any day of the year and feature self-start registration at a local business. Maps and written directions are provided to guide your way on the route.
